ST. FRANCISVILLE HOP-ON HOP-OFF TOUR

Established in 1809, St. Francisville is the oldest town in the Florida Parishes of Louisiana. Below where St. Francisville is located currently, there was a settlement called Bayou Sara in the 1790s. When this settlement was destroyed by flooding and fires, many of the structures and artifacts were hauled up the bluff into St. Francisville, where they are still standing. The town is referred to as "two miles long and two yards wide," but that definitely doesn't mean it has nothing to offer! Stop in at one of the unique shops, historical homes, beautiful churches, or breathtaking parks and you will agree with that! Beautiful oaks with Spanish moss grows throughout the town, creating a comforting and charming southern atmosphere.

Royal Street - Take a stroll down historic Royal Street at any of the shops or just to admire the beautiful trees and homes. Or stop into Grandmother's Buttons - a unique boutique that offers jewelry made out of 100-year-old buttons. Inside the store, you can visit the button museum to learn the history of the business and the inspirations of the art. The store is located inside of a former historic bank lobby with 16-foot ceilings and a bank vault. Even if jewelry is not in your plans, the architecture is beautiful! Suggested Visit: 30 - 45 Minutes

Old Market Hall - The structure was built in 1819 and has a beautiful open layout. The building is now used as a market center for the town's local artisans and craftsmen to showcase their products and host their small businesses. Every day is different, you may see anything from jewelry and makeup, scarves and dresses, or snacks and produce! Suggested Visit: 15 - 30 Minutes

West Feliciana Historical Society Museum - This museum is dedicated to the history, people, and architectures of West Feliciana Parish. Built in 1896 and inside a former hardware store, the Historical Society Museum displays many artifacts, photos, costumes, and articles all portraying the history of St. Francisville. Just across the street, you can stop in one of the fine boutiques and shops! Suggested Visit: 30 Minutes - 1 Hour

Grace Episcopal Church - Built in 1860 and rebuilt in 1893 after the Union caused heavy damage in 1863, Grace Episcopal Church stands tall in St. Francisville. Enjoy a self-guided tour of the church and the grounds and make sure to check out the organ located inside – it dates all the way back to 1860! The church is one of the state’s oldest Protestant churches that still stands today. Suggested Visit: 15 - 45 Minutes

NATCHEZ HOP-ON HOP-OFF TOUR

This charming river town was first inhabited by Natchez Indians and French explorers who shared the land. It was founded in 1716, making it the oldest city on the Mississippi River. The city is known for its elegance, hospitality, and impressive preservation of history, which can be found on every street corner throughout the town. Guests will enjoy the unique shops, restaurants, museums, and antebellum houses located in Natchez, as they explore the beautiful downtown areas.

The Old South Trading Post – Be sure to bring your taste buds to this unique stop! Sample Southern muscadine juice, dips, salsas, jellies, cappuccinos, and coffees— all while you browse the huge assortment of items for sale. There’s something for everyone here, including a wide selection of books, candies, one-of-a-kind shirts, hats, souvenirs, drug store items, and even alligator items! Suggested Visit: 15 minutes

Rosalie Mansion – This magnificent mansion, an outstanding example of Federal style architecture, was built by a wealthy cotton planter in 1823. The Mississippi State Society Daughters of the American Revolution have since gained ownership and have been maintaining the house and grounds since 1938. On this self-guided tour, discover the history of the house and the artifacts found throughout. Period-dressed docents can be found throughout the home to answer questions and to provide more information. Guests can explore the extensive gardens, gift shop, kitchen, library, and carriage house. Suggested Visit: 30 - 45 minutes

Natchez Visitor’s Center - Stop here to learn more about this historic river town. This well-maintained building contains informative displays, knowledgeable staff, and a gift shop!. Suggested Visit: 15 minutes

William Johnson House Museum - William Johnson was known as the “Barber of Natchez.” He began life as a slave but gained his freedom at age eleven. After his emancipation, he began to work his way up, eventually becoming almost fully accepted within society. His three-story brick home was built in 1840 and showcases many original furnishings. Suggested Visit: 30 - 45 minutes

Magnolia Hall - This Greek Revival Mansion was built in 1858. The house was built before the breakout of the Civil War in town but did suffer some damage – a cannon ball was launched into their kitchen! It is now fully restored – the main floor offers a showcase of many antiques and furnishings and the upper floors offer a costume collection located in the Historic Clothing Museum. Tour the house and then stop in the gift shop for some souvenirs. Suggested Visit: 30 - 45 minutes

Stanton Hall - Irish immigrant and cotton merchant Frederick Stanton built this Palatial Greek Revival mansion in 1857. It was appraised at $83,000 during that period, even before it was furnished. Take a 30-minute tour of the house – which takes up the entire block and is fully furnished. Afterwards you can stop for lunch in the Carriage House Restaurant, known for their fine southern cuisine. Suggested Visit: 30 - 45 minutes

Museum of African American History and Culture -
The museum will delve into the 300-year-old African American history, spanning four lifetimes from Colonial and Cotton Kingdom Natchez, to the Reconstruction and the Civil Rights Movements. As you explore this creative portrayal of the true African American story, you will unfold history to reveal Natchez in a light that is shown nowhere else around. Suggested Visit: 15 - 45 minutes

PORT: VICKSBURG, MS

For months Ulysses S. Grant and his Army of the Tennessee were trying to overtake Vicksburg, Mississippi – “The Key to the South” as described by Abraham Lincoln. In late May 1863, Grant undertook a new campaign to gain access to this vital river city. After many attempts, Vicksburg still fought back and caused the Union Army to fall back. Grant chose to attack again full force at Champion Hill and Big Black Bridge, weakening John C. Pemberton’s Army causing it to retreat. Both Confederates and Union soldiers suffered drastically, but finally on July 4, 1863, Pemberton surrendered to Grant leaving the Mississippi River in Union hands.

Church of the Holy Trinity

This incredible church spans over 125 feet long, 52 feet wide, and reaches 61 feet high to the apex of the ceiling, which was built of southern white pine to emulate Noah’s ark. The church was constructed in Romanesque Revival style and finished in red brick. It also showcases zigzag tracery, which was highly unique to the style at the time. The Belgian slate roof is another amazing feature of the building, which began construction with the laying of the cornerstone in 1869. The 34 stained-glass windows, however, may be the main draw. They were given as memorials and six of them were created by Tiffany Studios in New York under the supervision of Louis Comfort Tiffany.

Anchuca Mansion

The word Anchuca derives from an Indian word meaning “happy home,” which is the exact vibe this home gives off. Built in 1830 by politician J.W. Mauldin, Anchuca is now listed on the National Register of Historic Places. Tour the home and discover its rich history, including how it was used as a hospital during the Siege of Vicksburg in 1863.

Old Court House Museum

Now a National Historic Landmark, construction for this colossal courthouse began in 1858 and was completed in just two years in 1860 for $100,000. It survived Union shelling, a direct hit from a tornado in 1953, and is now home to the largest collection of Vicksburg’s history. The museum is filled with countless artifacts, including confederate flags, portraits, the trophy antlers won by steamboat Robert E. Lee in an 1870 race, an original Teddy Bear given by Theodore Roosevelt, and many more!

Biedenharn Coca-Cola™ Museum

At the Biedenharn Coca-Cola™ Museum, enjoy the wide variety of Coca-Cola™ memorabilia in an authentic candy store and soda fountain setting. This building is where Coca-Cola™ was bottled for the first time anywhere in the world in 1894.

Lower Mississippi River Museum

This museum provides a unique and interactive way to learn about the history, people, and events that have been a part of the Mighty Mississippi. Their mission is to show the federal government’s role in the Mississippi’s past, as well as future efforts to maintain a healthy river. Explore the many exhibits, learn what the 1927 flood was like for the community, see some of the river’s fish up close in the 1,515-gallon aquarium, and much more!

Old Depot Museum

The museum features a 250-square foot diorama of the Siege of Vicksburg, giving guests a bird's-eye view of the layout of the Battlefield as it looked in 1863. It also houses 250 scale models of ships and boats, model railroads with railroading artifacts, and 150 model cars that show the evolution of motor travel. There are also more than 40 original paintings of war on the river and Civil War artifacts.

GREENVILLE HOP-ON HOP-OFF TOUR

Southern towns are known for their crops corn, cotton, and rice. Greenville, while it may produce plenty of corn and soybeans each year, is actually said to produce writers. At one time, the town actually had more writers per capita than any other town in the country. An article about Greenville in Southern Living Magazine and the author joked, "When trying to get a book published, I was told to go to this small town and drink the water." Greenville is the home to acclaimed authors such as Shelby Foote, Walker Percy, Ellen Douglas, Willie Morris, David Cohn, and many more!

Greenville History Museum

The museum is home to many artifacts, photos, memorabilia, and souvenirs dating from the mid 19th century through the 1980s. See personal objects of local past citizens, businesses, or well-known celebrities! Greenville History Museum has plenty of information about the Flood of 1927, including many pictures and stories.

Hebrew Union Temple

The present temple was constructed in 1906 with the sanctuary seating approximately 350. Today the the congregation consists of about 55 families and continues to be the Jewish center of the Mississippi Delta. With original stained-glass windows and full-sized pipe organ, both from 1906, the temple is a favorite among guests.

1927 Flood Museum

Located in the oldest structure in downtown Greenville, the Flood Museum depicts the history of one of the worst natural disasters the country has ever seen. View the flood artifacts and photos illustrating the flood's impact during the long four months Greenville and millions of acres of the Yazoo-Mississippi Delta was flooded. Watch a short documentary illustrating the cause and effects of the Great Flood and the struggle of man against nature.

E.E. Bass Cultural Arts Center

The E.E. Bass Cultural Arts Center is home to the steam-powered Armitage Herschell Carousel. Created in 1901, it is the oldest fully functioning Armitage carousel today. Since Mississippi at that time was still legally segregated, many people approached the owner about having separate nights for carousel rides. However, the owner refused, as he wished for everyone to ride together. Take a ride on this amazing machine, hear the whistle blow, and travel back in time.

St. Joseph's Catholic Church

Built in 1907, this fine Gothic Revival Church is the second building of this parish. It was designed and financed by Father P.J. Korstenbroek, who served at the church for 33 years and was memorialized in William Alexander Percy's, Lanterns on the Levee. Many of the stained-glass windows came from the Munich studios of Emil Frei.

Greenville Writers' Exhibit

Greenville boasts "more published writers per capita" than any other town in the nation. To celebrate this accomplishment, the Writers' Exhibit located on the second floor of the William Alexander Percy Memorial Library, is a must to visit for all guests. Many of those featured helped to create an extraordinary literary atmosphere in Greenville, and include William Alexander Percy, Walker Percy, Shelby Foote, Ellen Douglas, Hodding Carter III, Charles Bell, Bern Keating, Julia Reed, and David L. Cohn.
